

GUNNAR SIGURDSSON DIRECTOR AND THE OPEN CIVIL MEETINGS

Gunnar Sigurdsson is the man behind the open civil meetings. The Open Civil Meeting is where Politicians, Union Members, Heads of Pension funds etc , came to a public meeting. This is where the public got a chance to ask direct questions to the people in power.

In Maybe I should have there are some memorable clips from these meetings.

Who doesn't remember Thorgerdur Katrin (Former Minister of Education) with her " Everything on the table!" comment or Ingibjörg Sólrún (Former Minister of Finance) with her "You are not the nation! " These unforgettable moments as well as others are seen in Maybe I should have.
